AMEDEI CHOCOLATE

July 26th, 2009

So I wanna say “Hello” to my new blog! What better way of starting it off, than by announcing that in September 09. Amedei is the brainchild and product of Alessio Tessieri and his younger sister, Cecilia.

Amedei Chocolate Company from Tuscany, Italy wants to sponsor my event at the London Design Festival

Any company would be only so lucky to have people like this in charge of their company. Passion, precision, detail, and an unwavering focus of “perfection” resides as the motto for taking chocolate making and craftsmanship to the next level.

The group of designers, starting with Katja Bremkamp and the rest of the “One part chef/four parts design” team, have collaborated with the idea of creating a dessert bar of dishes based on emotions. This was a challenging endeavor.

I studied emotions and became intimate with them. I studied their colors, flavors, etc and came up with some rather sensitive desserts. More on that later.....

Anyway, I hope that this is the beginning to a long and loyal relationship with Amedei.
